Ben Tucker is a nationally recognized storyteller. Brother Ben specializes in personal stories, historical figures, fairytales and folk tales. He has performed at The Marsh Theater, Silk Road, and National Storytellers Network in Kansas City. He was a part of a storytelling program in China through Eth Noh Tec. He has authored his memoir, A Good Run. Ben is a retired University of California administrator.

Craig Byrne worked as a public health nurse in SF working with juvenile youth. He has been storytelling using puppets at schools and libraries for 20 years. His Irish blarney roots brought him recently to storytelling and he has performed at the Moth and other local events like the Monkey House and StorySlam Oakland.

Tom Darci lives in Oakland, where he and his wife have raised three kids. Tom has a prior life acting on Bay Area stages. After a hiatus in his acting life, public storytelling stepped in to fill the void in 2020. He's been writing and telling stories since then, first virtually and then in person. He recently unlocked an achievement by winning a Moth StorySLAM. Look for him in an upcoming Moth GrandSLAM.

Yael Schy is a dynamic storyteller, improviser, theater and dance instructor, singer/songwriter, and stand-up comedian. Yael is the host of the monthly Alameda Story Slam at Alameda Comedy Club and the director of two Bay Area improv troupes. She is also a Moth Story Slam winner, and a frequent storyteller at StorySlam Oakland and various other storytelling venues. Yael has been performing and teaching theater and dance for all age groups for almost 50 years.
